It is feared that the Ohio Legislature will repeal the act appropriating one-twentieth of a mill of the taxes to the support of the State University. That would be a step backward and would seriously injure the party responsible for it.

A New York paper says that "it is a fact worthy to be noted that the only wars in which the Government of the United States has ever been engaged with people of a foreign tongue have been with countries of about the size and power of Chile." That knowing exchange is reminded that back in 1799 this country had a real live scrimmage with France, a country several times larger than Chile.

REV. CHARLES H. SPURGEON, one of the first of the modern school of evangelical preachers, died in Mentone, south of France, yesterday. He rated not only as one of the greatest divines, but one of the brightest intellects of the age. He has been in failing health for a number of years, being afflicted with gout and other ailments, and has been obliged to make frequent pilgrimages to health resorts for recuperation.

The grip microbe, having in a temporary fit of aberration attacked members of the Great Britain royal household, has thereby signed his own death warrant. As a result, a scientific army has been set at work to run him to his lair, stimulated by the hope of royal favor as the reward of success. Had the microbe not aimed so high he might have been allowed to carry off common people for an indefinite time to come.

CONGRESSMAN HOLMAN explains that his resolution, which passed the House a few days ago, does not mean and was not intended to mean that there should be no more appropriations for rivers and harbors or public improvements; only that there should be strict honesty and economy in the public expenditures. In other words, Mr. Holman is in favor of that declaration but against its enforcement. We have seen politicians of that stamp before.

MR. SMYTHE, spelled with a "y," was terrorized by a masked band of citizens in the middle of the night recently and threatened with lynching unless he promised to forego his usual amusement of kicking the young men who came to call upon his pretty daughter Jennie. Mr. Smythe promised that Jennie's beaux would be treated with more consideration in the near future and he was allowed to live. This happened in Iowa.

A TOMSTONE, made of Big Bug onyx and described as very beautiful, was hauled into Prescott, Ariz., the other day and offered for sale to anyone who would buy. This idea opens up new possibilities for rural residents of countries where tombstones are more plentiful than cordwood or watermelons, for there is no particular reason why headstones and monuments, whether of onyx, marble or other material, should not be hawked about like other country produce.

In only five States of the Union has a mother any absolute legal right to the custody of her children. These are Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Oregon and Washington, where both parents have equal rights in the matter. In other States a mother has no control over her children, not even if driven from home by her husband's cruelty, unless she applies to the court for the custody. In other words the father, by right of fatherhood, can claim his child, but motherhood is not enough; the court must be appealed to before the mother can have absolute right to her children.

It has been intimated that the colored voters of Louisiana, who constitute a large part of the voting contingent of the Republican party in that State, would easily be bribed or cajoled to support the lottery, but the emphatic declaration of the Republican State Convention against the lottery and any scheme that proposes to legalize gambling shows that these intimations are groundless. On these questions of public morality the Republican position puts to shame the weak and corrupted Democracy, the principal faction of which is under the control of the lottery and ready to do its bidding.

THE Law and Order Society of Pittsburgh is making things extremely lively for Sunday newspapers and people who sell them. There have been wholesale arrests of newsdealers, carriers, newsboys and others connected with the publication and distribution of Sunday issues of the press, with the view of breaking up the whole Sunday newspaper business. So far its effects have only provoked the most profound disgust of the great masses of citizens, who read newspapers on Sunday with more comfort and with greater certainty of profit to the mind than on any other day, because they have, on the first day of the week, more time for reading than on any other day. A paper of that city thinks that when opponents of Sunday newspapers mean they are using in Pittsburgh, they make it certain that the laws which permit them to prosecute newsboys and newsdealers for the sale of papers on Sunday will be speedily repealed.

Ante-Mortem Burials.
A few days ago a San Francisco exchange discussed the subject of those terrible casualties which sometimes take place in the burial of people alive. It says:

Once in a long time we get an uncomfortable sense of the nearness of the peril through an account of its actual occurrence, discovered all too late. We perform an appropriate shrug and shiver and pass on to the next "item" of news, rather glad to get the matter out of mind. It might be better if we were more hospitable to this lovely conception, entertaining it not only frequently and longer and without the shrug and shiver. It is clear that the danger of premature burial is not so slight and this can do no harm, and can be made infinitely less repulsive than the autopsy so frequently ordered for a far less noble reason; if not, it substitutes a painless and unconscious death for one equally inevitable but of unthinkable agony and horror. There can be no kind of honest and intelligent dissent in so plain a matter, and the hypocrite who for some sordid or otherwise base motives affects it should be denied a hearing.

We have not the slightest hesitancy in avowing our belief that if at the moment of closing the casket forever a physician were requested by the proper person to perform upon the body an operation which would assure its eternal repose it would be his duty to comply. If life is already extinct this can do no harm, and can be made infinitely less repulsive than the autopsy so frequently ordered for a far less noble reason; if not, it substitutes a painless and unconscious death for one equally inevitable but of unthinkable agony and horror. There can be no kind of honest and intelligent dissent in so plain a matter, and the hypocrite who for some sordid or otherwise base motives affects it should be denied a hearing.

That seems pretty cold-blooded, but it cannot be denied that instantaneous killing would be a kindness compared with the alternative of burial alive. Nowadays a great many autopsies are performed which bring complete assurance of death, and the undertakers have a method of injecting an embalming fluid into the veins and arteries of a body which is equally conclusive. There is the crematory, which leaves not a vestige of doubt.

Scientific and aristocratic methods of disposing of the bodies of the dead are progressing rapidly in the direction of eliminating the possibilities of ante-mortem burial. But these methods are expensive and are brought into service only in the minority of cases. It is a legitimate subject of inquiry whether there should not be some law regulating the matter and providing some more infallible assurance than a mere certificate of death signed by a physician. The great desideratum would be, of course, some process which would infallibly show the presence of life, if it really exists, and nurse the feeble spark back to a flame, rather than summarily snuff it out. Mr. Edison and some of the other great electricians might profitably devote a share of their attention to this subject. Why would it not be feasible to apply an electrical current to the body with slowly increasing voltage, and, after running through all the scale of voltages, find no reaction, make the current strong enough to insure that there never will be any? This system would work both ways, and would give the worst chance subject a good chance for life before eternally sealing his doom.

Burdens Under the Wright Irrigation Law.
A gentleman who owns a tract of sixty acres near Fallbrook, San Diego county, puts in a grievous complaint about the prospective operation of the Wright Irrigation Act, under which a district is about to be established in the locality named. He says that there are about 12,000 acres of land in the established district, the most of which is unimproved and less than 7000 acres of which is really susceptible of improvement. He thinks that the entire district could be purchased now for something between $100,000 and $300,000, but it is proposed to bond it for the sum of $400,000. These bonds are to run twenty years, and the total interest to be paid upon them in that time will amount to $800,000. He has calculated that, on his sixty-acre tract, he will have to pay not less than $4000 to meet his share of this interest. The bonds amount to a first mortgage on the land, and if he fails to pay the property will be forfeited. He is disposed to view this state of affairs as simply confiscation.

There are ninety voters in the Fallbrook district, and of these not more than forty-five are acreage taxpayers. Those who have nothing at stake are rallying to the support of the measure with great unanimity. Three of the five members of the Irrigation Board represent an aggregate of only 180 acres. In the main, the non-land-holding citizens are the most disposed to be enterprising and liberal. Those who object to the sweeping measures proposed are making a contest in the courts. If the law sustains the formation of the district there will be nothing left for them but to submit—give up their lands or pay the taxes. It is possible, of course, that under the improvements proposed the lands may be sufficiently augmented in value and productiveness to justify the increased burden of taxation—it may turn out a profitable enterprise, for those who are able to hold on and pay the piper—but there is no question that the burden will bear heavily on the principal landholders, and for some, it will amount to confiscation.

At the "Bally-hoo" of the Union League Friday evening—a gathering of more or less conviviality, as might be inferred—Hervey Lindley, president of the board of trustees of the Whittier Reform School, was present, and attempted a more or less convivial speech on the subject of corkscrews. It is possible that the subject was ill-chosen, or the occasion unpropitious, for it is said that the Bally-hoo failed to appreciate Mr. Lindley's burst of humor. When he found that neither the six-bit corkscrew for every-day use, nor the three-dollar corkscrew for Sunday, were provocative of mirth from his standpoint, he dropped into a more sober vein, and admitted extravagance in the furnishing of the Reform School, but fell back upon the lasting qualities of the furniture and dilated upon the benefits of Southern California in having so much of the State's money expended here for the establishment of such a fine institution. If unofficial reports are to be believed, Mr. Lindley was no more fortunate in his sophistries than in his attempt at humor. In fact, he probably got a faint intimation that his tainted record is not to be waived away or laughed away by any such process. Most people have a moral standard which makes them revolt at insolent and defiant knavery. When Boss Tweed said, "What are you going to do about it?" he sealed his fate. Mr. Lindley will find that a very perilous laugh which he raises on the subject of corkscrews.

SENATOR CHANDLER, in an open letter referring to the New Hampshire judges, declares that they unconstitutionally appoint the State board of equalization and that this body undervalued the railroad $37,000,000, and that all of the judges except one use free passes. Unfortunately in this country the judicial emine is not immaculate. The public is beginning to class the average judge along with the average political office-holder. It is an unfortunate thing for the courts when they forfeit the extra confidence and veneration which has generally been accorded them, and more than that, it is a public calamity when such respect is forfeited through sufficient cause. The law represents the very holy of holies of civic government, and when people cease to venerate that they are in a fair way to a change of religion; as likely as not they will fall down and worship a golden calf.

capital landholders, and for some, it will amount to confiscation. All of which shows that there are two sides to every question—even to the Wright irrigation question, in favor of which so much has been said.

Big Prices for Winter Vegetables—Grand Views of Ocean, Mountain and City—An Irrigation District Now Being Formed.

It is astonishing how few residents of Los Angeles know anything about the Cahuenga Valley. Even before they arrive in Southern California, people, as a rule, have a pretty good idea about the San Gabriel and Pomona Valleys, Riverside and other places situated from twenty to 100 miles distant, but this valley, whose eastern edge is within a mile from the city limits and which is, in many respects, one of the most attractive valleys in Southern California, is a terra incognita to 90 per cent. of our citizens. This is largely owing to difficulty of access. Apart from a dummy railway, which makes four trips each way daily from downtown Los Angeles to the terminus at the Temple street cable road, the only means of reaching the Cahuenga Valley at present is by private conveyance. The dummy road in question runs as far as Hollywood, in the hills, and then branches off to the right, following the Temple street cable road, the only means of reaching the Cahuenga Valley at present is by private conveyance. LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The New Water Project.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—(To the Editor of the Times.) The communication of S. M. M. in the Times of the 29th inst. has the right ring to it, and it is to be regretted that he did not explain how his suggestion to "let the city manage the water works just as soon as it can be legally done" can be put into operation. If legal possession can be had of the water works now in operation the city can mortgage them and issue bonds upon them the same as a company could. If it cannot do this legally then a company can be formed which will issue the bonds, pay for the work with part of the proceeds of the sale of the bonds, and then lease the whole plant to the city, which will pay the water rates at a figure that will pay the interest on the bonds and create a sinking fund to pay the principal. The constitution prohibits the issue by the city of any bonds running longer than twenty years, and engineers practically agree that it will cost between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000 to create a water supply system which will be satisfactory. If that great sum is to be paid in twenty years, in addition to other bonds now existing, and necessary to be issued to operate the city, it would make a rate of taxation of $10 on each $100—a tax which the people will not vote. If the amount of $4,000,000 should be raised out of the water rates, in twenty years it would make the rate so high that half of the people could not pay them. A little figuring will show this:

Interest, 6 per cent. on $4,000,000.....$240,000
Sinking fund.....200,000
Operating expenses.....100,000

Total annual outlay.....$540,000
The sworn reports of the City Water Company show that the gross receipts of all of their companies for the year 1921 amounted to $230,000 per year, while the gross receipts of the Citizens' Company are about $35,000, making a grand total of $265,000 per year. The cost of operating the water works, including interest and sinking fund demands, to say nothing of depreciation, is about $540,000 per year. Under this plan the revenue required for the first ten years would be as follows:

Interest, 6 per cent. on $4,000,000.....$240,000
Sinking fund.....200,000
Operating expenses.....100,000

Total outlay.....$540,000
Deduct total revenue.....265,000
Leaving deficit of.....$275,000
To meet this deficit a tax of 1 1/2 mills could be levied to pay for street sprinkling and fire-plugs, and the whole amount would be raised. The case of the water works will soon reduce the rates and if there should at any time be a surplus it goes into the treasury, but the object should be to keep water rates to consumers at the lowest possible figure.

No contract, lease or agreement of any kind should be made with any company which would not allow the city to assume the management of the work and collection of the revenues whenever desirable. W. C. A.

Broadway Front of the Courthouse.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—(To the Editor of the Times.) It appears that the Broadway front of the County Courthouse is to be made a sort of "back door" of. It would seem, in view of the present and prospective prominence of Broadway that the entrance from there should be made as attractive, if not more so, than from any other street. What say you?

A Case of Contempt.

menced and proved, in most cases, highly remunerative, in spite of the heavy express charges of from 7 to 10 cents a pound. Last year the railroads made a special rate of $1.00 a hundred in orange cars, by freight, to Missouri River points, and a large business would have ensued this winter were it not for the lateness of the rainfall, which delayed planting to a great extent, except on tracts that can be irrigated.

Although the Cahuenga Valley, like the rest of the country between Los Angeles and the ocean, is able to produce—and does produce—almost any crops without irrigation, the horticulturalists of that section have come to the conclusion that irrigation would treble the value and capacity of their lands and are now making a determined move to organize an irrigation district under the Wright act.

The road was once a while in the hands of the Temple street cable road, the only means of reaching the Cahuenga Valley at present is by private conveyance. What the Cahuenga needs is the tunneling of First street, with a good road from the extension of that street; reopening of the Los Angeles and Pacific Railroad, and the weathering of the ranches La Brea, Rodeo de los Aguas and Buenos Ayres. Then, within a few years, a settlement like Alhambra would spring up between Los Angeles and the ocean.

WEATHER AND CROPS.
The Regular Weekly Bulletin Issued by the Weather Bureau.

The Rainfall General All Over Southern California—Farmers Jubilant and Preparing for Spring Work—Flooding Commenced.

Reports from correspondents came in slowly last week, and it was not until last evening that Observer Franklin, of the Weather Bureau, got his statistics in shape for the regular weekly weather crop bulletin for the week ending January 29, as follows:

Satcoy (L. P. Crane).—Twenty-six hundredths of an inch of rain fell on the 26th and 27th inst., with 75 inch precipitation up to the 28th and very good indications of more. The rain has done a good deal of good; it has soaked the ground thoroughly, the hardest kind of ground is in good condition for plowing and every available piece of land will now be ready for the spring crop.

Hueneme (S. L. Mack).—The rainfall during the week was .44 inch, which came in good time for the early sowing and makes the prospects very good for a crop.

San Gabriel (James P. Ward).—The whole valley has been visited by several days' rain, which, according to locality, has ranged from 1/2 to 3/4 inches. It is still raining January 29. The rainfall up to 6 a.m. on the 29th was .72 inch for the storm. Grass and barley are growing rapidly, and a considerable amount of the present storm will prove of great benefit.

Rodeo de los Aguas Ranch (H. H. Denker).—Rain commenced falling on the night of the 28th, with 75 inch precipitation up to the 28th and very good indications of more. The rain has done a good deal of good; it has soaked the ground thoroughly, the hardest kind of ground is in good condition for plowing and every available piece of land will now be ready for the spring crop.

The Palms (W. D. Curtis).—Farmers and orchardists are rejoicing over the rain which still continues to fall. Growing crops and seed in pasture are looking well. The muggy weather the past few days has caused buds on fruit trees to swell. Quite a large acreage will be set to trees this season.

SPORTING NEWS.
Two Games of Baseball at Athletic Park.

The Closing Contests of the Apollos—San Jose Series.
The Home Team Win the First Game, the Visitors the Second.

Phenomenal Plays on Both Sides—The Best Exhibit of Ball Ever Seen in the State—General Sporting News.

In spite of the threatening aspect of the weather over 500 enthusiasts turned out yesterday afternoon to witness the closing games of the series between the San Jose and local teams at Athletic Park, and those who braved the elements were amply repaid for their trouble, for better ball than that put up by both teams has never been seen in this city. Although the "Dukes" carried off the honors of the series by winning three and drawing the fourth of the six games played, it must be conceded that the "Apollos" proved themselves no less deserving of credit, for they contested every inch of ground with their competitors.

The first game, which resulted in favor of the "Apollos" by 5 to 3, was a profligate of sensational plays, and the crowd on the bleachers yelled itself hoarse in showing its appreciation of the "Apollos" who walked called at 1:30 o'clock, with "Jerry" Moody in the box for the visitors, but the Angeles did not tarry long, three men going out at first in rapid succession. The "Dukes," however, opened up ferociously. McGuckin walked to first, reached third on Hanley's single and came in on Everett's sacrifice. Hanley was forced to third as Dooley was hit by a pitched ball, and Sharp walked to first. The excitement was intense. Knell, who had been pitched as steadily as a rock and struck both Wilson and Parrott out. Both sides went out in short order in the next two innings, but the fourth was a glorious one for the Apollos. Hassamer walked to first, followed by Parrott, who reached second on Goodenough's sacrifice, but was thrown out by Wilson. Goodenough was more fortunate, as he went to third on Decker's sacrifice, and the last inning, on Hulen's single, which moved Decker to second. Then Fogarty with a mighty effort planked a two-bagger out to the fence near the railroad track, but, being too ambitious, died at third, after Decker had reached home.

The Apollos tallied twice more in the fifth. Rappold was hit on the elbow with the ball, reached second on a slow punt by Knell, which Hanley failed to pick up, went to third on another safe punt by Smith and landed home on Hassamer's single. Hulen followed with a single, and the Apollos were back in the lead. Goodenough flew to Sharp, who returned the ball to Spees just in time to kill Smith at the home-plate. Dungan walked to first, but while Decker was at the bat Hassamer was caught between the third and second bases, and reached third as Goodenough went to second on Dungan's sacrifice, but died on the home plate when making a steal. Goodenough was more fortunate, as he went to third on Decker's sacrifice, and the last inning, on Hulen's single, which moved Decker to second. Then Fogarty with a mighty effort planked a two-bagger out to the fence near the railroad track, but, being too ambitious, died at third, after Decker had reached home.

BURYING THE HATCHET.

Chileans Acquiesce in Their Government's Action.

Further Possible Demands a Subject of Much Interest.

Full Text of Harrison's Reply to the Note of Apology.

A Cordial Expression of Good Will and Desire to End the Controversy on the Part of This Country.

By Telegram to The Times.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The Santiago correspondent of the Times says: "Public opinion here is satisfied with the procedure of the government in the dispute with the United States. The press leaves it to the United States and other nations to judge the rights and wrongs of the dispute. Interest now centers in the precedent which the United States is preparing to solemnly lay down for herself, and in the question whether her further demand would be such as she herself would be prepared to concede under similar circumstances."

"Congress has passed a bill authorizing the President to borrow $5,000,000 to withdraw the notes of the dictatorship. The Senate has passed the bill. The Minister of Finance informs me that he has arranged to withdraw the bulk of the excess of fiduciary circulation."

A MESSAGE OF PEACE.

Full Text of the Reply Accepting Chile's Apology.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] The following is the text of the cable sent by Blaine accepting Chile's propositions for a settlement of the difficulties:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, Washington, Jan. 30, 1892. Egan, Minister, Santiago: I am directed by the President to acknowledge the receipt of your dispatch of the 25th inst. It has been communicated to a basis of cordiality and makes, as he believes, a fair and honorable adjustment of all difficulties between the two countries. The President notes with gratification the expressions of regret for and condemnation of the assault upon the sailors of the Baltimore and congratulates the Chilean government upon the frank and ample withdrawal of the Matia circular and upon the spirit of justice displayed toward Egan. You will assure the Chilean government that the President will be glad to meet in a most generous spirit these friendly overtures. Believing that the usual diplomatic methods, the President postpones for the present any discussion of the suggestion made by Pereira as to the use of other methods, not doubting that the sense of justice of Chile will enable the two governments speedily and honorably to make a full end of the whole matter. [Signed.] BLAINE.

Slavin Gets a Jag. St. Louis, Jan. 31.—Frank P. Slavin, prize fighter, tonight demonstrated that he was a follower of Sullivan in at least one respect. He became very full and terrorized the Southern Hotel's guests with threats to "lick any d—d American, or all of them, if he could get them in a ring." The pugilist was averted only by the fact that he was hastily taken out of the city with his "jag" by friends.

That New Express Company. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—Pennsylvania Railway officials emphatically deny the published story relative to the establishment of a new express company, of which the ex-president of the Adams company, John Hoey, was said to be one of the active movers.

A Gale at Vienna. VIENNA, Jan. 31.—A terrible gale prevailed here yesterday and last night. An enormous amount of damage was done. Several persons were injured by falling tiles and trees. Windows were shattered.

Indian Desperado Killed. TAMUQUAN (T. T.), Jan. 31.—Jan Jacob Hampton, a noted Indian desperado, was killed last night by Deputy United States Marshal Bruner. Hampton was a young man, but his criminal history was a long and desperate one.

Death of a Professor. LOUISVILLE, Jan. 31.—Dr. Basilio Manley, professor in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, died here tonight of pneumonia. He was born in 1825 in South Carolina and was one of the founders of the seminary.

Shot His Wife and Her Brother. WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Howard Scheider tonight fatally shot his wife and killed her younger brother, Frank Hamlink. The wife had refused to live with him.

Thrilled by Numerals. [New York Advertiser.]

Mme. Modjeska, like the rest of humanity, is not averse to an occasional joke and one of a practical nature which she recently played upon a supremely well assembled was rather unique in its conception. A dinner in her honor had been given at a certain Fifth avenue mansion and toward the close the guests joined the hostess in a request that Madame would favor them with a brief recitation. She stated her willingness to oblige, but though she racked her brain nothing apropos occurred to her and finally she begged to be let off with a short selection in her native tongue. The suggestion was applauded and Madame began.

Although her listeners could not understand the words, her gestures and some thrilling tones held them enchained until the final syllable, when she was overwhelmed with plaudits.

As she was preparing to depart her hostess asked her for the title of the selection she had given, and much to her surprise Madame went into a small-sized paroxysm of laughter.

"I am sorry to deceive you," she said, smiling, "but my recitation hasn't any name. My memory failed so badly that as a last resort I recited the numbers from one to two hundred and thirty in Polish."

Later reports from Riverside are to the effect that the cold wave ran in streaks and the damage is much less than was reported. It is now believed that the increase of the orange crop will nearly offset the damage by wind and frost in this country. People have recovered from their first scare. [Monrovia Messenger.]

Are you making arrangements for planting that windbreak next month? Winds are rare here, but they do come, and it is decidedly best to be prepared for them. [Monrovia Messenger.]

How the Plunger was Fooled.

[Boulevard Courier-Journal.]

A rounder is telling a good story about how a noted jockey gave a big plunger a hard throw-down last year. The betting man ascertained that the wife of the jockey had received instructions from her husband how to bet, and getting an introduction to the lady, he became a sort of chaperon, always afterward occupying an adjoining seat in the grand stand. Frequently the plunger spoiled the odds for the jockey and his backers, so the latter, after ascertaining the source of the leak, set about to set things straight again. One day the runner hastened to the stand and told the jockey's wife her husband said put $200 on a certain horse. Knowing her usual form of betting, the plunger was aware the amount named was a large sum for her to hazard, and when she sent the money to the ring he followed and literally smothered the bookmaker with bills on that particular performer. When the race was over, however, that corner of the stand was very quiet, as the good thing failed to get a place. The jockey in question rode the winner, and after donning his every-day clothes, walked up to where his wife was seated, and after displaying a handful of winning tickets amounting to several thousand dollars, he handed his wife two crisp hundred dollar bills to take good her losses, with a quizzical smile, accompanied by the remark that it was truly remarkable how many good things go wrong. The plunger at last tumbled to the dose given him, and since that time there has been a vacant seat in the ladies' stand.

Hedpeth Safe from Arrest.

St. Louis, Jan. 31.—Attorney Brown of St. Joseph, Mo., was in the city today to consult with Mrs. Hedpeth. He brought a letter from her husband's attorney and says he had been retained by Hedpeth who was in a safe place. He practically admitted that the fugitive robber is in a country where extradition proceedings are of no avail.

A Prisoner Attempts to Escape from the Patrol Wagon.

Charles Gassen, Jr., who is quite a wild young man, created considerable excitement at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was under the influence of liquor and got into a fight on Main street near First. Officer Davis took Gassen in custody after the young man had received a black eye at the hands of his enemy.

The officer sent for the patrol wagon, as he did not care to lug Gassen to the police station. Gassen got into the wagon all right and was turned over to Officer Giddens, who was in charge of the patrol wagon. The wagon had gone but a short distance when Gassen suddenly decided to leave the wagon, and he did so in spite of the officer. As good luck would have it, Capt. Insley, of the Insley & Kearney agency, happened to be at hand and he gave chase. Gassen dived into a new building that was going up on First street, near Main street, and piled down in the cellar head over heels. He fell a distance of twenty feet, but, strange to say, he did not receive a scratch. Insley was right at his heels, and he was going at such a rate of speed that he could not stop, so he followed into the hole and landed on Gassen's body. Both escaped uninjured, and the young man was soon landed in the patrol wagon. He was taken to the police station and locked up.

The New Embroideries

Will be on sale Monday morning. It is one of the choicest exhibits we have ever made. Also a lot of new laces; point de Ireland—this will be one of the popular articles for spring and summer; a very elegant article at a very moderate price. New hand-made torchon laces; small neat patterns in new, effective styles. Carriage parasols; new.

Another large invoice of Reynolds Bros.' shoes; a regular $4 quality Reynolds Bros.' shoes with new style patent leather tip for $3. Reynolds Bros.' shoes are as good as they make any first-class shoe; no shoddy; first-class styles, and the very best in fit. The shoe department has been greatly enlarged and improved.

We are the only house in the city showing the new styles in spring wraps. We have a large lot of very choice things. A big lot of jackets at $8 and $10 that are very cheap.

The corset department is showing large gains over one year ago. Royal Worcester corsets are gaining in popularity; boned with real whalebone or the best quality of French horn, the only suitable article for the stiffening of a corset. When you buy a substitute for whalebone you get the worst of the bargain, and you pay as much as you do for a Royal Worcester. Why not buy a Royal Worcester at the start? When a salesman says they have as good an article as a Royal Worcester they pay us the highest compliment. There is no better corset for wear; no better-fitting corset than the Royal Worcester.

Warner Bros.' Celebrated Coraline Corsets

ARE acknowledged to be the most durable and perfect-fitting in the world. Coraline never breaks, while it is flexible and gives a fine form to the wearer. Made in 24 different styles, fitting every variety of figure. Health corset fits the "Willow" form; Four-in-Hand fits the "Amazon" and the 44 and the 999 are admirably adapted to the "Greek slave." Ladies, consult style, durability and economy and ask for Warner Bros.' Fire Corsets. In proof of their great popularity five leading Dry-goods Houses of Los Angeles carry the full line.

The City Council meets at 10 o'clock this morning.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union office for James Crutcher and Frank M. Honeywell.

John Watts, the proprietor of the store at Hollywood, had the misfortune to lose one of his children—a little boy—by diphtheria last week.

The San Joaquin will remain in the city for another week, and will commence a second series with the Apollos at the First street grounds Tuesday.

The rainfall for the twenty-four hours ending at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon was .03 of an inch, making the total for the season 2.95 inches.

A big crowd visited Westlake Park yesterday afternoon to see the big balloon go off but the rain scared the balloon people off and the show was postponed for a week.

W. H. Gier, the electric road conductor, who was so badly crushed by being caught between two cars in front of the police station, Friday, was reported in a very bad way yesterday afternoon, and it was thought that he could not live throughout the night.

Maj. E. L. Stern, who has been in England during the past six months, and only returned home Friday night, was confined to his bed yesterday and could not be seen by a Times reporter who wished to interview him regarding his trip to the old country. He will probably be around in a few days.

Quite a number of Eastern confidence men have arrived in the city during the past few days, and are quite conspicuous on the principal thoroughfares. The police have the records of some of these gentry already, and the detectives are keeping an eye on them. It is more than probable that they will be heard of in the near future.

Argument in the celebrated Cohn contested will case will commence before Judge Clark today. W. H. Shinn, Esq., of counsel for the contestant, will open at 10 o'clock, and will probably consume a day. He will be followed by S. M. White, Esq., after which the other attorneys will follow. The case will hardly get to the jury before the latter part of the week.

Samuel B. Flint, superintendent of the Railway Mail Service of the eighth division, will arrive this morning from San Francisco on a tour of inspection of the Railway Postal Service in Southern California. The rapid extension of railroad lines in this section necessitates a frequent inspection to ascertain the necessity of extending the railway mail service facilities, to which Superintendent Flint is ever on the alert. To this effort is due the double mail service between Los Angeles and National City, recently perfected.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS.

Another New Railroad Across San Diego County.

Talking About the Young Fresno Railroad Builder.

The Southern Pacific's Branch Road in Arizona Territory.

Pioneering from Freight Cars in Transit—Promotions from the Banks—Rumor about the Redondo—Gossip.

It is amazing how much railroad building is being done in San Diego—in some people's minds. Now the folks down there are considerably worked up over a rumored extension of the National City and Otay Railway through the eastern part of the county and on to the Southern Pacific. The record tells of a trip made by Mr. Lockie, general manager, and N. Savage, chief engineer, and C. F. McFarlan, who has just returned from a trip over the proposed line, made at the request of the people of the upper Sweetwater Valley. The two officials, accompanied by Messrs. F. L. Nichols and C. F. McFarlan, drove over the entire route in a wagon, taking elevations every five miles and carefully noting the contour of the country. They report excellent success, having found two eminently practicable routes, in which the grades will not be over 3 per cent. Several routes are in view, but the one up the Sweetwater is considered the best. The outlet on the desert is about five miles from "Stone-wall." The distance by this route from San Diego to the desert is about seventy miles, and is less than thirty miles across the desert to the Southern Pacific.

GOSSIP ABOUT POLASKY. Whether or not Huntington has anything to do with the road that Marcus Polasky is building eastward from Fresno is a matter that few people care to talk about, says the Examiner. Polasky is at Fourth and Townsend streets frequently, a fact which leads many to suppose that Huntington is more or less interested with him in the undertaking. Be that as it may, Polasky is represented as having the scheme well in hand, and those who do not believe that Huntington is backing him connect Gen. K. A. Alger and President Arthur Hill of the Saginaw Steam Barge Company with the enterprise. It is current talk that plenty of money is behind the scheme, and there are those who believe that not only is Huntington not interested in it, but that it is the beginning of a new transcontinental line, which will pierce the Sierra Nevada Mountains through the Sonora pass, said to be one of the most available points at which to cross the mountains. At the present time twenty-six miles of the road have been completed, with some little grading beyond.

SCRAP HEAP. It is now reported that the owners of the Redondo narrow-gauge railroad contemplate building certain extensions to the road within the coming year. The road is now seventeen miles in length, from Los Angeles to Redondo. At Santa Monica the work of the Southern Pacific in making the extension to the cañon goes bravely on, there being three gangs of men at work on the tunnel and along the beach. As soon as they have constructed the line to the spot selected for the wharf work will commence on the structure.

James McCrea, first vice-president of the Pennsylvania lines, has issued an order that is of great interest to the employees. The order reads that no more promotions will be made on account of favoritism or from the ranks of those outside the company's employees. Mr. McCrea, in his order, says that all promotions in the future must be made from the ranks of the employees in the service of the company and not from the outside.

The Atchison Company has plans for a line from Omaha to Chicago. The plan is to leave the Chicago line at Fort Madison, Iowa, and use the Fort Madison and Northwestern Railroad, which extends forty-five miles in a northwesterly direction to Collette. A new road will have to be built from that point to Ottumwa, where connection will be made with another short line extending to Harvey, a distance of about fifty miles. A new road will be constructed from Harvey directly west to Omaha, with a short branch to Des Moines.

Thefts of freight stored in cattle cars in the past five or six years caused the Southern Pacific some time ago to build 500 new cattle cars, and now a combination of the ordinary freight car and the former. These cars are now in use, each being thirty-four feet long, with a capacity of 50,000 pounds. The old cars were twenty-eight feet long, with a capacity of 30,000 pounds. The new cars have doors with iron bars some while apart. After they came here with cattle from Oregon, Nevada or Arizona they were sent back on the return trip loaded with various kinds of freight. If loaded with freight, it was often the case, a good deal of it was missing on reaching its destination.

When the Southern Pacific people have built their new 100 miles of road from Phoenix to Prescott the company will practically have a road isolated from the system, because between it and the main line there intervenes a line of road running from Phoenix to Maricopa, owned by a company of which N. K. Masten of San Francisco is president. Whether this road will be bought or leased so that it can be operated with the new branch as one line by Huntington is a matter which none of the officials care to discuss. The Examiner says that about the only significant circumstance in connection with the matter so far is that President Masten is the Southern Pacific's financial agent on this coast.

A Minister of the Old School. (Boston Transcript.) The convivial habits of the Scotch clergy of sixty to 100 years ago were then thought not at all inconsistent with their cloth and their professions of sanctity. An old Scotch lady, who formerly lived in Cornwall, Canada, recently gave this account of the minister under whom she had sat at home in her youth:

"Ou, ay, weel do I mind Mr. Douglas. He wasna yin of those latter-day kind that canna tak' a wee drapple. Mony's the time I've seen him gaun' along the street where I lived, a' the better for what he didna carry just to say vera straightly. The auld wives would come out to the doors and pit their arms so (akimbo) and look at him hipplin' along, and say, 'Ou, ay, there goes Mr. Douglas. He'd get fou' the day the guid, pious auld minister!'"

THE HOT SEA-WATER BATHS are now open for patronage at the Hotel Arcadia, Santa Monica. As these baths are located in the hotel building and the baths heated by steam, removes all danger of taking cold. Elevator runs to the bath rooms.

LIFE AT HOTEL ARCADIA.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Page of Portland, Or., who have been spending some time at Hotel Arcadia, Santa Monica Beach, returned home last week.

Among the recent arrivals is that of Mrs. C. A. Fellows of Jersey Channel Islands. Mr. and Mrs. Gunderson and Mrs. W. A. Estabrook of Gunderson, Mont., are also enjoying the balmy climate, which forms a striking contrast to that of Montana's winter weather.

Judge and Mrs. E. C. Bronaugh of Portland are spending some time at the beach and Mrs. S. J. Hammond and Miss Etta Quincy of Los Angeles are likewise enjoying life at the Arcadia.

One of the pleasantest weddings of the season took place yesterday morning at the residence of M. Fisch on Bunker Hill avenue, the contracting parties being Aaron Fisch of Chicago and Miss Bertha Fisch of Los Angeles. The interesting ceremony was performed in an impressive manner by Rev. A. Blum of this city. The wedding presents were numerous and costly. Mr. and Mrs. Fisch left on the Santa Fe for Chicago yesterday afternoon.

Among the invited guests were Rev. and Mrs. M. A. Fisch, Mrs. H. C. Weiner, Mr. and Mrs. H. Susskind, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Moss, Mr. and Mrs. E. Frankel of Downey, Mrs. S. Hellman, Mrs. V. Katz, Miss Celia Katz, H. C. Katz, Mr. and Mrs. H. Basserman, Miss Basserman and others.

SOME TWO PERSONS. Mrs. John E. Plater has issued invitations for an "at home" to be given in honor of Mrs. and Miss McLellan on next Thursday from 7 to 11 p.m., at No. 102 Baker Block.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kays entertained a small company of friends last Saturday evening at their handsome new home on Grand avenue. The affair was in celebration of their ninth wedding anniversary.

THE MEXICAN BOUNDARY.

A Commission at San Diego to Re-Establish the Lines.

Last Tuesday evening G. R. Putnam and O. B. French arrived in the city direct from Washington. They were detailed from the coast survey to assist the international boundary commission in making geodetic surveys. Wednesday they went down to Oceanside with a view of stopping there to make their observations, but owing to the difficulty in securing proper telegraph connection it was thought advisable to make observations in this city. Yesterday they chose a site in the southwest corner of the city park reservation. It is at the head of Seventh street, and on a line with Date street. A shanty is being constructed, 10x12 feet, just large enough to accommodate the two engineers and their instruments. Two brick foundations were built in the center of the observatory on which to place their 36-inch telescopes.

Some Western Union Telegraph linemen were making connections yesterday with the wire that runs to the Florence Hotel. C. N. Sinclair, assistant in the United States coast and geodetic surveys, is stationed at Los Angeles, but will be in direct communication with the survey station here. The surveyors will remain here a month or six weeks, and will subsequently continue work along the Mexican boundary toward El Paso, Tex. In the meantime the boundary commission will work toward the line between the United States and Mexico to be reestablished and marked by monuments. Astronomical surveys will be made by Messrs. Putnam and French in the evenings.

Funeral of Domingo E. Garcia. The funeral of Domingo E. Garcia took place from the family residence, No. 818 Bottler street, yesterday. The floral tributes were very elaborate. The members of the Los Angeles Catholic Beneficial Association, numbering over 150 strong, led the procession. At the Catholic church the ceremony was very impressive. Very Rev. P. Adam, V. G., officiated, and the choir, with Prof. Gardner at the organ, intoned the solemn responses. At the conclusion of the services the funeral cortege resided its march to the Catholic cemetery, where the remains were consigned to the tomb.

Most Entertaining Tonight!

In the auditorium of the Y.M.C.A. at 8 p.m. this evening a most interesting programme has been prepared, not at all lessening the interest at 11 a.m. and 4:30 today. Dr. Haupt's assistant, Prof. C. L. Shaver, who is an able exponent of Delbertian True Art of Reading, will render a number of amusing recitations, beginning at 8 o'clock sharp. Dr. Haupt will entertain in his inimitable manner by an exhibition of his system, by which he imparts a thoroughly practical knowledge of German during his five weeks' course of lessons. Be it known that everybody is cordially invited to come to the opening lessons of this valuable course, and especially to the interesting exercises this evening in the auditorium.

Orange Lands!

GREAT BARGAINS

AT SOUTH RIVERSIDE

The finest Orange and Lemon Lands are found in this flourishing colony and the location is unsurpassed.

Great Abundance of Water.

Another pipe line is about to be constructed, bringing additional lands under irrigation.

Prices Extraordinarily Low.

Water is sold with the land. No bonds, no uncertainty as to quantity or price of water. Water conveyed in pipes to the lands. The lands are adapted to the culture of all fruits common in Southern California.

Here is the place for Homes and Investment.

Orange Heights

is a new and attractive subdivision of a portion of the high mesa land of South Riverside Colony, and being frostless and not subject to injurious winds, offers special advantages for the cultivation of the

LEMON.

The best authorities in Southern California commend these lands for the raising of Lemons. One syndicate is arranging to plant 1000 acres in Oranges and Lemons, one-half each.

Aside from its wonderful advantages as a fruit-producing colony, South Riverside is an important manufacturing point. The Pacific Clay Manufacturing Company's vitrified sewer and water-pipe works—the largest on this coast—are located here. Also the Porphyry Paving Company, the Standard Fertilizing Company, and two pottery works. This is the shipping point for the famous Temescal tin mine plant. A company is now being formed to work on a large scale the finest cement rock found in the United States. This latter company will probably employ 200 or more men. The material is at hand for additional manufacturing.

The Town of South Riverside

Contains numerous business houses, and there are churches, hotels, a bank and all other improvements necessary to make a thriving town.

Come and see our new tract before purchasing elsewhere, taking the Riverside and San Bernardino train via Orange, leaving Los Angeles at 11 a.m. and 5 o'clock p.m. For full particulars call on L. T. GRAVES, agent at Los Angeles, Bryson-Bonebrake Block; or address
